

INDUSTRIAL IOT SOLUTIONS

Remote monitoring of oil, gas and chemical tanks

COMPANY PORTRAIT

Leader in remote monitoring

Sensile Technologies was founded in 1999, and is a forerunner in the internet of things. Our headquarters are in Morges, Switzerland. We have always focused our efforts on developing state-of-the-art remote monitoring solutions for the oil & gas industry. We are an innovative company, who won many prizes, and a market leader for many years. Since 2020, Sensile Technologies is part of the WIKA Group, a leading international sensor supplier.

Worldwide network

Our systems are currently installed on more than 100'000 tanks, in over 70 countries on all continents. We have extensive experience in managing large telemetry projects and a global network of highly qualified technicians and local partners.

Swiss quality and technology

We develop and supply high-quality products - all Swiss-made and explosion-proof certified - and provide dedicated service and support.

High-growth ready

We target the waters energy sector of the growing Industrial IoT (internet of thing) and Smart Services market - which many believe will drive the largest organic growth opportunity in the history of business. The IIoT market in the oil & gas industry alone is currently seeing 1,000,000 new device installations per year. With our international experience, the support of the WIKA Group and growing portfolio, we are well positioned to consolidate our leadership position.

Sustainable business

Sensile Technologies is committed to continually reducing our carbon foot print. We have an environmental policy covering everything that we do. And thanks to our solution, our customers are reducing transport-related CO₂ emissions by more than 12 tonnes per day.
